FUND MANAGERS' COMMENT - Régis BÉGUÉ

While long-term interest rates inched up in Europe and the United States, the price of Brent remained stable in January after having gone up for two consecutive months at the end of 2016. Against this backdrop, the Euro Stoxx lost 1%, hurt by the underperformance of defensive sectors such as oil & gas, real estate and agri-food. More cyclical sectors like automotive, banks and financial services were on the rise. The fund outperformed the market, losing only 0,59% over the month. The portfolio was hurt by the presence of Intesa Sanpaolo and the absence of Santander in banks, and by the disappointing performance of Nokia in technology. On the other hand, it benefited from its lack of exposure to the oil & gas sector, good picks in utilities (presence of E.ON), as well as its positions in commodities (Voestalpine, Imerys).
