MANAGEMENT

INVESTMENT POLICY

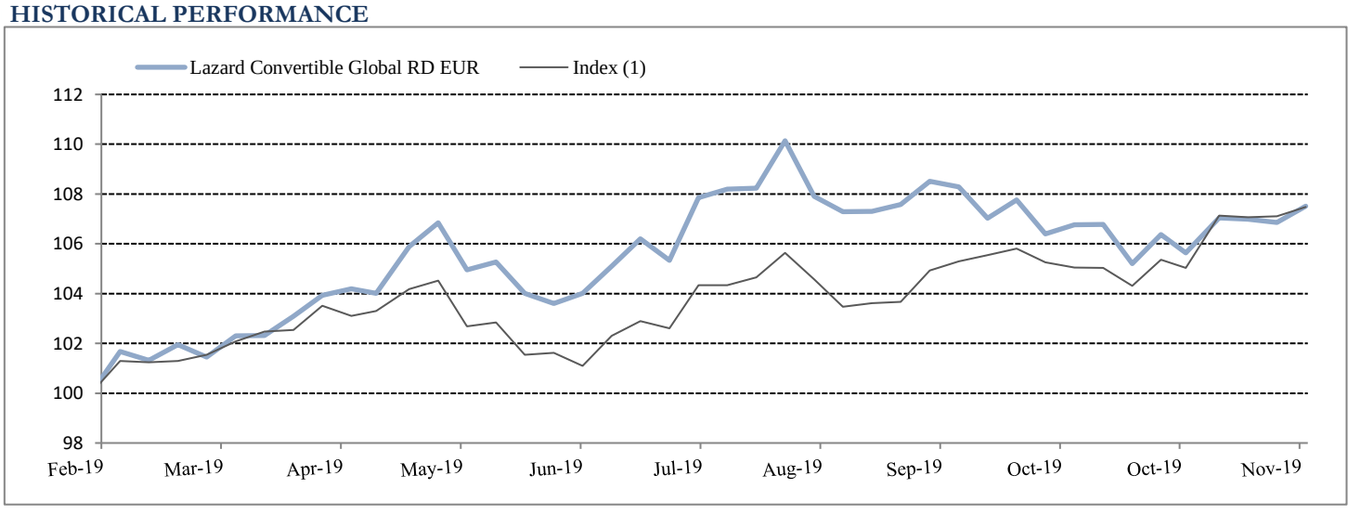

The fund seeks to outperform the Thomson Reuters Convertible Global Focus Index in euro in the mid-term. To attain this objective, the strategy will rely on an active management of interest, currency and credit risks and on our stock-picking approach.
The portfolio is mainly invested in convertible bonds, exchangeable bonds, bonds with equity warrants, perpetual preferred shares, corporate and financials traded debt, sovereign debt, French law money-market and bond funds (whether or not UCITS-compliant) invested in bonds and other types of Euro-denominated debt (10% maximum), and shares resulting from a conversion of the above-defined instrument types (10% maximum). All returns are net of fees and total return.

FUND MANAGERS' COMMENT - Arnaud BRILLOIS

During the month of November 2019, Lazard Convertible Global RD EUR share class returned 1,77% versus 2,32% for its benchmark (Thomson Reuters Global Focus Convertible in Euros). The fund's equity sensitivity increased during the period, currently standing at 50.8%, the benchmark's equity exposure also increased, now standing at 45.9%. Modified duration is higher than the benchmark, standing at 2.44 versus 2.21. Selections in European apparel and on global e-commerce platforms added to relative performance, but healthcare detracted due to specific M&A rumors on a benchmark name. Our higher equity exposure compared to the index had a positive relative impact while sensitivity to interest rates was slightly negative to relative performance. Over the month, we increased our equity exposure to Asia to the same level as the benchmark by adding new Chinese names, particularly in consumer cyclical. In the US, we reduced our exposure to high delta software names (Workday, ServiceNow) in favor of communications/media names which displayed attractive structures in the aftermath of the rotation. We sold Intel after the company announced a soft call on the 2039 issue and added more convex semi-conductor names (ON semiconductor and STMicroelectronics).
After the good Q3 publications of companies represented in the convertible bond universe, in particular mid-caps and growth companies in the US, we expect the strong rotation observed since September to abate. We maintained our overweight exposure to the dollar and the Swiss franc against all other currencies over the month.
