INVESTMENT POLICY

The fund's target is to reach, over a recommended investment 5-year period, a greater return net of fees than the Thomson Reuters Global Focus Hedged (EUR) Convertible Bond Index in euros, hedged against a foreign exchange risk, the euro being the reference currency with reinvested net coupons. The stock returns may be adjusted by possible foreign exchange hedging costs.

FUND MANAGERS' COMMENT - Arnaud BRILLOIS

During the month of July 2019, Lazard Convertible Global IC H EUR share class returned +1.45% versus +0.83% for its benchmark (Thomson Reuters Convertible Global Focus Euro Hedged). The fund's equity sensitivity decreased during the period, currently standing at 49.4%, the benchmark's equity sensitivity also decreased, now standing at 41.3%. Sensitivity to interest rates increased over the month, now higher than the benchmark, standing at 2.40 versus 2.18. Security selection had a positive impact overall: out of benchmark positions in US e-commerce and software strongly added to relative performance. European picks in the aerospace and video game sectors also added to relative performance. Our underweight to Asia detracted, although security selection was positive with five of our six best securities not in the index. Selections in consumer, non-cyclicals and underweights to basic materials detracted to relative performance. Duration, which is now in line with the benchmark, marginally added to absolute performance, as the 5-year EUR swap rate decreased during the period. We sold our Baozun position and added exposure to telecommunications (for example Telecom Italia) and to technology (in the sub-sectors of gaming and software services).
