FUND MANAGERS COMMENT

February was marked by the rebound in inflation, suggesting that the pace of disinflation will now be slower. The Federal Reserve and the ECB reiterated their message of patience, allowing short-term rates to rebound significantly over the month. The US and German 2-year yields rose by 41bp and 47bp respectively to 4,62% and 2,90%, with the yield curves flattening by 23bp and 7bp. At the end of February, the markets were only pricing in three to four 25bp rate cuts on either side of the Atlantic. Despite a volatile start to the month due to fears about US commercial real estate (CRE), credit spreads tightened across all segments and sectors. The IG primary market was very active with €67bn issued. The surprise came from Corporates, which issued an impressive amount of around €40bn. It was a busy month in terms of results, most of which were solid. The portfolio's structure remained unchanged.
